

FOODDAY

THE BEST AT THE MARKET, IN YOUR KITCHEN AND ON YOUR TABLE

The Oregonian

TUESDAY, AUGUST 28, 2007

FOODday • TUESDAY, AUGUST 28, 2007

MARKET BASKET

By CHERI SWOBODA | THE OREGONIAN

Sometimes it feels like we're still waiting for summer. Hot, sunny days have been less than plentiful this year. But we always like to think of the cup as half full. In our hearts we know there's still plenty of sunshine headed our way.

We found an assortment of delicious products that just scream summer. So, whether you're going to the beach, entertaining on the patio or potlucking at the annual block party, you can celebrate the season — no matter what the weather.

Soda

fountain |

These locally made Crater Lake Sodas are some of the best pops around. In flavors such as root beer, lemon-lime and orange cream, they taste like they're made from real ingredients, not a bunch of chemicals. And forget high-fructose corn syrup. These sodas get their sweet kick from pure cane sugar. $5.99 for six 12-ounce bottles at Bales Marketplace, Market of Choice, Lamb's Thriftway and Zupan's.

JAMIE FRANCIS/THE OREGONIAN